INSTITUTE IS WELL UNDER WAY

Teachers of Bradford County Having Profitable Time in Towanda.

INSTRUCTORS ARE DOING MUCH SPLENDID WORK

Dr. Houck and Dr. Benedict Gave Interesting Addresses Yesterday. Prof. Jerry March is Now in Charge of the Music.

The Annual Bradford County Teachers' Institute was called to order at 11 o'clock Monday morning by County Superintendent H. S. Putnam: An unusually large number of the teachers of the county had already enrolled and were ready to begin the week's work. Owing to the unaccountable absence of Prof. Jerry March, Miss Morse, Supervisor of music in the schools of Athens, led the singing of "Onward Christian Soldiers." Principal J. H. Humphries of the Towanda schools, conducted the devotional exercises.

Dr. M. G. Benedict, principal of St. Johnsbury Vt. Academy was then introduced by Superintendent Putnam who said that Dr. Benedict is not a stranger to Bradford county teachers. In fact he is well and personally known by many. Dr. Benedict spoke ably on his subject of "The Opportunities of the Rural Teacher." The best work he has ever done was in the little red school house. Having been fortunate in spending his boyhood in the country and beginning his work as a teacher there, he speaks from his own full experience. The problems that confront the teachers in this county even though they are teachers in the large borough schools are very different from those in the large cities. To illustrate the opportunities of the teachers of rural schools, Dr. Benedict gave much of his own work in his first work in a small school among the Catskills. There is more chance for personal work in the close contact of teacher and pupil in the rural school. The boys and girls from the farm stand usually for strength of character and strength of will. The teacher has the chance to bring out a personality and that means everything. The opportunity to make capable men and women. He further spoke of work in nature study.

In nature-study teachers are warned against the common dangers (1) of giving more attention to subject matter than to the interest, thought and habits of the pupil, (2) of telling too much and thus giving the child small chance of finding out things for himself, (3) of depending on books too much, (4) of making nature-study a task, (5) of trying to do too much and making exercises too long and tiresome, (6) of relying on collected specimens rather than actual things out-of-doors, and (7) of emphasizing the form rather than the life of plants birds and animals.

M. E. Bennett Supervisor of Writing, Braddock, Pa., was next introduced. He said that writing must be taught in a definite systematic way. The foundation is the building of the position, shaping the hand, teaching action, and thinking curvature. The child should be taught to hold his pen without undue tension. A teacher who can properly teach a child to hold his position in writing correctly has accomplished a life work.

The drawing of the lots for the selection of seats for the evening came next. Out of the fifty-seven districts Towanda borough came fifty-second.

Monday Afternoon.

The afternoon session of the Institute opened with singing led by Prof. Terry March of Girard College, who will for the third time have charge of the music. Half an hour was given to music and it was indeed well spent.

Dr. M. E. Bennett was the first speaker, and addressed the Institute on "How to Develop Writing Ability." His subject was precisely what he ably demonstrated. The first steps of teaching correct position in writing is to teach muscular control. Train action until the hand moves with the thought of the mind. The position of the body, arms, hands and feet must be such as to get the best possible use of them. Have exercises, physical culture drills, as exacting as military drills. It is wise to use many supplementary drills to ease the tension during the writing period. After explaining these exercises Dr. Bennett asked the teachers to do them. A general fault found in writing is that pencil holding is not really taught. Children are told how but not taught. These movements should become automatic. The mind must control the body and the rhythmic movements used in writing.

"Geography—Pennsylvania," was the subject of the next address by Mrs. C. R. Stiles. She believes in spending more time on important points instead of memorizing minor details, or useless details. There is no study in schools more important than geography. A teacher is not a teacher of one grade but of every grade up to and including hers. Build well the foundation. Take the great general facts and drill on them thoroughly; the great forest coal and agricultural regions. The great rivers of the state, each having special interests and advantages, are of infinite value. Then the cities and the resources of each one come naturally and are very important. Teach also a few facts of the history of the state in connection with the study of the commercial geography.

The afternoon's work was necessarily interrupted by the teachers being dismissed in squads to reserve seats for the evening entertainments Prof. March again led the Institute in some good songs which were an inspiration to hear.

The last address of the afternoon by Dr. Benedict was "Mind as Revealed in Words and Actions." Every teacher should be a student of psychology. No subject more interesting than the study of the mind. We study the mind introspectively. By means of the memory we understand how the mind flits from one subject to another. The little fellows in the seats know by the self-possession or timidity exhibited by the teacher how much they can do. We also study the mind objectively.

After a few announcements the first day's work was ended.

Dr. McGuirk's Lecture.

Dr. Dan McGuirk, pastor of Grand avenue church, Kansas City, Mo., delivered the first lecture of the Institute entertainment course in the opera house Monday night speaking to a very large audience. He had for his subject "The Kid Movement," which proved very interesting. During his discourse he called attention to the splendid work in the juvenile courts, using as illustrations the courts presided over by Judge Brown, Judge Linsley and others, showing that the tendency now is not to punish criminally inclined children in the hopes of reforming them, but to cure them of their bad inclinations by humane methods. This work has borne much fruit wherever tried, and the speaker, and his audience last evening was greatly pleased with his subject.

Tuesday Morning.

Tuesday morning's session of the Teachers' Institute opened with a full attendance of teachers. Everyone seemed ready for a good day's work. Promptly at nine o'clock the institute was called to order with Prof. March in charge who conducted an instructive exercise in music.

Principal George E. Rogers of Athens led in the devotions of the morning and Mr. Bennett talked during the next period on "Inspection Drills, Special Physical Culture Drills." After explaining and illustrating drills and arm movements he had the teachers again go through the drills with him. These are called inspection drills because every child is practicing these movements under the supervision and eye of the teacher. Writing is an acquired knack which should become automatic. Thus when a child writes in proper position unconsciously he will write only what he thinks. His mind will be free for his thoughts, not being disturbed by any technicalities of physical action or exertion. Writing periods in many cases are periods of repression instead of expression. Often paralysis is caused by improper holding of the pen for many years. Mr. Bennett also gave valuable help and instruction to teachers.

Between the addresses Prof. March again led with a very delightful song.

Dr. Benedict talked on "A Vital Factor." He said at the outset that the real subject of his talk was "Interest." Not like the usual American idea of interest as that of money but with a deeper significance, a quality of the mind. When there is attention accompanied by pleasure, or a desire to know more of that topic or object, or a wish to possess something pertaining to it, then the child has interest. There is a many sided interest in pupils; interest leads the teacher to do many disagreeable things with pleasure. Boys and girls need more interest, we all need more interest in all things about us. Knowledge begets interest and conversely interest begets knowledge. The right amount of knowledge given at the right time and in the right manner is sure to do good work. A teacher herself must know her subject and moreover she must have interest in the subject and also in the individual. The more enthusiasm the better. Knowledge means power, not only in the subject but in the person. To know a pupil one must study it, its

PRESENTED WITH $1,950

Rev. Father Coroner Receive Fine Gifts in Honor of His Silver Jubilee.

PASTOR OF CATHOLIC CHURCH SURPRISED

Invited to Attend Entertainment In Honor of Priesthood, and Was Made the Host of Honor at a Big Surprise. $1,350 Given Toward Church Debt.

Monday night will long be remembered by the Rev. Father Coroner, pastor of the Church of SS. Peter and Paul of Towanda, and the 1500 Catholics comprising the parish. Following n excellent entertainment in St. Agnes hall, the handsome and commodious auditorium which forms a part of the magnificient St. Agnes school building on Third street, Father Coroner was presented with three certified checks, totaling $1,950, as gifts in honor of the 25th anniversary of his ordination into the holy priesthood.

The Gifts.

The first check for $1,350 was presented by Arthur Burchill on behalf of the congregation of the Church of SS. Peter and Paul. This money was raised by Rev. Father Ruddy, curate of the Church, who unknown to Father Coroner, circulated among the members of the congregation, asking that they give as they felt toward their pastor. That Father Coroner is beloved by his parishoners is attested to by the munificient total of the contributions. Father Ruddy started out to raise $1,000, but the parishoners were remembering their pastor, and giving in the fullness of the love they have for him, so the sum was increased by a third.

In presenting the check, Mr. Burchill voiced the love of the congregation, nd asked Father Coroner to accept the gift in the same spirit in which it was given.

Then as a complete surprise to the congregation as well as to Father Coroner, Mr. Burchill unfolded another check, which called for $500, which he presented to the reverend gentleman as a token from one who is very near and dear to him, and whose name it was not necessary to mention. This was a gift of Mrs. R. C. Wills of Scranton, Father Coroner's sister.

Tears glistened in his eyes, and the hands trembled as the reverend gentleman smoothed the checks, seemingly unable for the time being to appreciate the situation.

He had no time to ponder, before P. P. Martin of Dushore, arose from his place on the stage and in a very neat speech presented him with a check for $100, a gift from the Towanda Council. Knights of Columbus.

The spacious hall was well filled with members of the congregation and friends, and following each presentation, the applause was loud and prolonged.

Rev. Father Ruddy Speaks.

Following Mr. Martin, Rev. Father Ruddy, who has curate has proven an efficient and painstaking assistant to Father Coroner, and to whom all credit for the success of the surprise is due, addressed the audience, extending his sincere thanks to the congregation for their help in making the affair so successful. He told of the warm manner in which he was received, and the generosity of the parishoners in giving toward the purse. It proved beyond a doubt the depth of the love the members of the congregation have for Father Coroner. Father Ruddy said he was sorely tried in keeping the matter a secret, as Father Coroner did not fall into his traps as easily as had been hoped, and he had to resort to drastic measures in order to get away from the parochial residence often and long enough to carry out the plans, but fate was kind and all was well in the end. He had but one regret and that was Father Coroner could not accompany him among the parishoners and hear the words of love and praise they had for their beloved pastor.

Father Ruddy introduced Right Rev. M. J. Hoban, Bishop of the Scranton Diocese, who paid high tribute to the worth of Father Coroner. His words were full of love and praise for the reverend gentleman. Before closing his remarks, Bishop Hoban added another fine gift to the collection. This was an autograph photo from the Pope which to a Catholic and especially a priest is very dear. The photograph which was encased in a neat frame bears this inscription:

"Most Holy Father Reverend Joseph J. Coroner,, humbly prostrate at the feet of your Holiness begs you to grant to him the Apostolic Benediction on the occasion of the Silver Jubilee of his ordination, Nov. 2, 1909. Juxta Preces in Domino. PIUS PP. X."

Father Coroner Returns Check.

Father Coroner was a very humble man when he arose to speak. His voice was choked with emotion, and he had great difficulty to find words to express his thoughts. He said he had been humbled, as he was not deserving of the gifts and kind words. He extended his heartfelt thanks after admitting he had been outwitted by Father Ruddy and taken completely by surprise. He was truly a surprised gentleman as every one in the audience will say.

In turn Father Coroner had a surprise for the congregation and that was the giving of the check for $1,350 toward the paying of the church debt of $2,500. He said he received the gift in the fullness of his heart, and he wanted the congregation in turn to receive it toward the liquidation of the church indebtedness. "Do not say you will not receive it," said the reverend gentleman in earnest voice, "for I will turn it into the bank for that purpose and no other."

Father Coroner has been pastor of the Church of SS. Peter and Paul for ten years, and during that time has done great good in the parish. The church has been repaired and redecorated, the parochial residence rebuilt, and large additions made to the con ent besides many other improvements and paying off a large indebtedness on the church property. It is said of him that he has never accepted a cent of salary since coming to Towanda, turning all into the church fund, for improvements, etc. He is beloved by his congregation, and highly regarded by the people of Towanda as was attested to Monday evening.

On the stage during the presentation of gifts were the following visiting priests besides Bishop Hoban: Rev. A. J. Brennan, D. D., Chancellor of the Scranton Diocese, Rev. P. J. Boland, Rev. E. J. Flood of Scranton, Rev. Denis O'Dougherty of Ireland, Rev. John Healey af Jermyn, and Rev. Jas. Hussey of Ashley.

FOOTBALLIST BADLY HURT

Joseph Pickering of Rome, May Die From Injuries Received During Game.

IS THE SON OF THE LATE WILLIAM PICKERING

Was Playing With Cazenovia Seminary Eleven Against Colgate Academy at Hamilton, N. Y.—Successful Operation Performed.

The brutal game of football as it has been played this Fall, has laid low a Bradford county youth, who like Cadet Byrne, and nearly 50 others, may lose his life as result of injuries received in a game.

The victim of this accident is Joseph Pickering of Athens township, a son of the late William Pickering, who was well known in Eastern Bradford county. Pickering who is 18 years of age, is a student in the Cazenovia Seminary at Cazenovia, N. Y., and a member of the football team representing that school. During the annual game with the Colgate Academy eleven at Hamilton, N. Y., on Saturday, Pickering was found unconscious at the bottom of a pile of players following a lively scrimmage, and was carried from the field.

An examination by doctors disclosed the fact that a vertebrae had been fractured, and his entire body paralyzed. His injuries are almost identical with those which caused the death of Cadet Bryne of the West Point eleven two weeks ago. Pickering regained consciousness soon after being carried from the field, but his condition is critical.

Sunday morning in the Faxton hospital at Utica, N. Y., he was operated up on successfully, and his chances for recovery are very good. The operation disclosed the fact that both sides of the arch of the seventh cervicular vertebrae had been broken and the spinal cord lacerated. The compressing bone was removed, and following the operation the surgeon said that the lad had a fair chance to recover.

Pickering Getting Along Nicely.

Prothonotary W. G. Gordon and J. N. Califf, Esq., returned Tuesday from Utica, N. Y., where they went to see Joseph Pickering, the Athens township youth who was injured in a football game last Saturday. Pickering has been placed in a plaster cast, and is getting along nicely. The doctors believe he will fully recover. Pickering was playing half back for the Cazenovia seminary team against Colgate academy eleven when injured.

WILL MAKE FURTHER TESTS FOR ROCK FOUNDATION.

Chief Engineer Cornell Orders That Drilling Be Resumed.

Further tests are to be made in the hopes of finding a rock foundation for the dam which Meikleham & Dinsmore, the New York brokers and investors propose to build near Towanda.

Three holes have been drilled in on the site of the proposed dam, and while rock was found during one test, yet it is anything but satisfactory to the men behind the project. George Cornell, the chief engineer for Meikleham & Dinsmore, was in Towanda Thursday, and made a thorough inspection of the site, and the tests which have been made. After completing his examination, he ordered that the work of drilling for rock be resumed at once, and continued until the entire territory available for locating the dam be thoroughly tested.

The fact that no rock has been found during the tests already made has been very discouraging to the men behind the project. While not finding rock does not mean the project will be abandoned, it does mean considerable delay, and great additional expense.

Bruin Is Too Gay.

It is all right to talk about bears and to hunt for them when you are armed with a Winchester, but one wants something more than a lantern when he sees a big black bruin with not the pleasentest expression on his face coming down the path after the dog and making a bee line in your direction says the Canton World. While Barney Paul, of Cold Spring was going to the barn to do his chores on Tuesday night with lantern in hand a monster black bear took after his dog which was following him and chased the yelping canine past him within a few feet. Mr. Paul says that he did not like the expression of Mr. Bears face as the light of the lantern fell on him as he went by and had rather he would stay a little father away.

Teachers Reviewed.

The teachers of Bradford county attending the institute were thoroughly reviewed on Thursday. That is, each teacher entering the Keystone Opera House was presented with a copy of The Daily Review containing a full account of Monday's proceedings of the institute so fully covered and nicely written by Miss Aurelia Bresee, secretary of the institute and official reporter of the proceedings. Four hundred copies of the paper were distributed among the teachers free of charge. Towanda merchants who use the columns of The Review will reap the benefit of the distribution.

Fish Commissioner Meehan Coming.

State Fish Commissioner Meehan comes to Towanda today, and if present plans do not fail, a meeting of sportsmen will be held at which he will be present and make an address.

WHITEWASHING COAL.

Not Done For the Sake of Neatness, but to Prevent Thefts.

Persons who have been somewhat astonished by having whitewashed coal delivered to them will be interested to know that the whitewashing is not done to improve the appearance or to increase the burning qualities. The treatment neither improves nor harms the fuel.

It is a detective scheme on the part of the railroads to locate and to prevent theft of the coal as it is hauled from the mines to the consumer. These depredations amount to thousands of tons annually, and the railroads are the sufferers, as it is up to them to deliver as many tons at their destination, often a thousand miles away, as were weighed in when the car was turned over for transportation.

Two or three tons may be removed from a carload containing forty tons without attracting attention to its decreased quantity until the car is again placed on the scales. To locate the loss, says Popular Mechanics, limewater is sprayed over a carload of coal. In a short time the water has evaporated, leaving a load of white coal. Then removal of any coal leaves a big black spot, which is quickly noticed by inspectors and station agents and the leak found and stopped.

A Nation of Borrowers.

Zanzibar appears, from a consular report, to be a place of universal borrowing. "Neither the Arab nor the Swahili," says the report, "has the slightest idea of thrift. The former, when he has sold his cloves, immediately spends the proceeds in entertaining or in the purchase of European articles for which he has little or no use. He then mortgages his property at a ruinous rate of interest or sells his next year's crop in advance at a price which would hardly pay for its harvesting, with the inevitable result that he is always up to his eyes in debt. The Swahili, if he happens to be out of debt at the beginning of the month, spends all his pay within a few days in food or native dances and has to beg, borrow or steal sufficient to maintain himself for the rest of the month. The money lender is in both cases the Indian, and the interest which he charges varies from 30 up to 300 per cent."

Managing a Servant.

One housewife declares that at last she has solved the servant problem. "Formerly I had untold trouble with my maids," she said. "They'd do well for awhile, and then they'd deteriorate so that I simply couldn't keep them. So I hit on this plan: When I noticed a falling off in the last maid's work I went into the kitchen and told her that, in addition to her fixed wages, she should have 50 cents extra every week that she did well. When she was only fairly good I'd give her a quarter, but on the weeks when she displeased me she'd get nothing. Nine weeks out of ten she gets her half dollar. It pleases her immensely, and I find the plan well worth while in the better service it secures me."—New York Tribune.

Stove Lifters.

Customer—Do you keep stove lifters in here?

Grocer's Clerk—Not the iron ones, madam. But we can give you a pint of kerosene.—Boston Transcript.

Lived 152 Years.

Wm. Parr—England's oldest man—married the third time at 120, worked in the fields till 132 and lived 20 years longer. People should be youthful at 80. James Wright, of Spurlock, Ky., shows how to remain young. "I feel just like a 16-year-old boy" he writes, "after taking six bottles of Electric Bitters. For thirty years Kidney trouble made life a burden, but the first bottle of this wonderful medicine convinced me I had found the greatest cure on earth." They're a godsend to weak, sickly rundown or old people. Try them. 50c at Turner's Drug Store.

Where Women Do All the Work.

The smallest dependency of France is the Ile d'Hoedic, situated at the east of Belle Isle. Its population is 200. They do not speak French, except the cure and the schoolmaster, but Celtic, and they are provided with food at an inn managed by the women. Fishing is the principal industry. The profits are shared out each year among the inhabitants. The men live on soup and fish and smoke pipes with lobster claws for stems. The women do all the hard work—get in the harvest, look out for wreckage and gather seaweed, from which they extract soda. The town has no streets. The houses are of mud. The islanders have a yearly feast in the early part of October. The island possesses a good water supply. The governing body is composed of the ten ancients of the place under the direction of the cure.

The Villain's Teeth.

The two sets of false teeth looked just alike, but one set cost $10 more than the other. "There is a lot of extra work on those expensive teeth," said the dentist. "They are made for an actor who always plays the part of heavy villain in melodrama, and he has to have teeth that he can hiss with. I experimented on three different sets of teeth before I got the combination. Somehow the nice, even teeth that I usually turn out wouldn't permit the sibilant 'ss-sses' that he deals in to escape with sufficient venom. You wouldn't believe how much tinkering it takes to lick teeth into shape for the 's'deaths' and 'od's bloods' to sound just right. Of all the people I ever made teeth for the heavy stage villain is hardest to fit."—New York Press.

Where the Relief Would Be.

Dr. Story, the late principal of Glasgow university, taking a holiday in the country once, was met by the minister of the district, who remarked: "Hello, principal! You here? Why, you must come and relieve me for a day." The principal replied, "I don't promise to relieve you, but I might relieve your congregation."

The Poet's Woe.

"I have always been a reader of your poetry," began Mrs. Gushe.

"I am glad," replied Algernon Charles Mystic, "that some one understands me."

"Oh, but that is what I have been hoping to meet you for. I wanted you to explain."—Philadelphia North American.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR THE LATE DR. OTT.

Hundreds of People Paid Last Respects to Eminent Surgeon.

The funeral services for Dr. Charles H. Ott, late superintendent and surgeon-in-chief of the Robert Packer hospital, were held at the Ott residence adjoining the hospital in Sayre Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The attendance was so large that not one fifth the people who had turned out to pay their last respects to the eminent surgeon could get in the house during the services.

From 10 a. m. to 2 p. m., the remains lay in state, during which time hundreds of people viewed all that was once mortal of a man very dear to them. The once fine physique was gone, having been destroyed by the terrible suffering, but the features were recognizable. Many a tear was dropped at the bier of the departed by those who knew him best and loved him most.

People came from many places, every town along the Wyoming and Buffalo divisions of the Lehigh Valley being represented. In the great throng were many people who are alive today through the skillful work of Dr. Ott, and they were present to pay homage to his memory. The floral offerings were profuse and very beautiful. A larger number, or more beautiful floral offerings have never been seen in this section.

Rev. E. C. Petrie, pastor of the Sayre Presbyterian church, had charge of the services, and paid a fine tribute to the life of the departed. His remarks of appreciation were tender and touching, and at the same time very appropriate. During the services a quartette of male voices sweetly rendered "Lead Kindly Light." The services as a whole were simple, yet very impressive.

Thursday on train No. 8, the remains will be taken to Easton where brief services will be held in the cemetery chapel after which interment will be made.

The pall bearers will be Hon. E. M. Dunham, M. H. Sawtelle, F. E. Lyford, Rodney A. Mercur, M. P. Murray and Hon. Louis Piollet.

The honorary bearers will be Hon. J. K. Newell, H. G. Merriam, Dr. W. E. Johnson, Hon. O. D. Kinney, Rush J. Thomson, Dr. George M. Cady, Bert Hayden, J. W. Bishop, Dr. W. L. Estes and David Pearsall.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson are delighted with the prospect of giving a first-class show which is perfect and full of merit. ELECTION FRAUDS.

The continual cry about election frauds may tire, but the press cannot lend itself to a more worthy cause than that of exposing, proving and punishing fraud at elections. We pray the day may come when fraud at an election will be deemed so great a disgrace to a county, town or state that every honest voter in the election district where the shame is perpetuated will take it to heart personally and give, if necessary, of his time, his energy or his means to expose it and punish it, to uproot it and throw it out. The Committee of Seventy of Philadelphia, has announced that at the election in that city on Tuesday of last week there was "a vile conspiracy to debauch," and that about 40,000 voters had their ballots marked for them under the false plea that they needed assistance. The Committee of Seventy gives excellent reasons for believing that this charge is true. There is no doubt that fraud was committed, and there are indications that it was on a wholesale scale. The Committee says: "The Committee of Seventy proposes to investigate thoroughly and impartially the conduct of this election, and will report to the public the facts found, and will arrest and prosecute to the limit of the law all whom the evidence may show to be guilty."

This will be a large and expensive task, and the Committee calls for help and asks all citizens of Philadelphia to contribute accordingly. Those who have it in charge say the investigation will cost $25,000. We hope they will get it, and more if they want it, and all they want. All strength to the Committee's arm. We don't care who, or which party or organization is hit; if there has been fraud at the polls let the perpetrators be exposed and punished. Honest elections are fundamental. They are the basis, the indispensable, the sine qua non of our scheme of governing ourselves, and if we cannot have them we cannot have anything in the way of government of, for and by the people.

C. L. Mnuson, the Democratic candidate for supreme court judge, carried Schuylkill county by 4,460 majority, with only 50 per cent. of the vote cast. In order to secure this majority it was necessary for him to secure more than two-thirds of the votes cast, the unofficial total being Munson 10,500, Von Moschzisker 6,040. More than 7,000 Republicans in Schuylkill county failed to go to the polls as a rebuke to the Leib machine, the Republican vote being the smallest in 30 years. All this because the elections a year ago in Schuylkill county were tainted with fraud, and that county has been in disgrace since. When the frauds were exposed honest Republicans resented the shame and, be it recorded to their credit, have rebuked the evil doers as stated above. Loyalty to one's party is commendable, but the toleration or countenancing of fraud at the ballot box is disloyalty to one's country.

The auditor general of the state is getting inquisitive and wants to know things. The county commissioners are obliged by law to make returns to that officer by August 1 every year as to the amount of personal property held by the county, and this year 13 of the counties returned less than the year before, and the auditor general wanted to know why. Two of our neighboring counties, Sullivan and Tioga, were among the 13 who were reported as losing ground, and when the auditor general asked them about it they thought of some more, and Sullivan returned an additional $24,940.50 and Tioga $84,700. This was a sober second thought worth taking, to be sure. It is so easy to forget, and especially about one's taxible property, and we suppose that one of the things that Auditor General Young is hired to do is to jog the memories of those who have lapsed into forgetfulness of their worldly possessions. Among the 13 who forgot were Lebanon, and when attention was called to the matter she "coughed up" $162,600 more. Washington county woke up and yawned and passed over an additional $188,131, and Somerset dug down and found there were $127,062 she hadn't included in her first report. It was surely a good thing that the auditor general thought to ask again. He said: "We are trying to find out why these 13 counties show such decreases, and we have hopes that we shall be successful." Large increases are noted in many counties. Bradford county returned an increase of $3,197 over 1908, and it is reported that if she don't do better next year she will be asked why.

The local optionists are pleased because at last week's election they elected in three counties—Bedford, Perry and Snyder—associate judges who are opposed to the increase of licenses.

LAST WEEK'S ELECTION.

It is the on year, but the apathy of it seems to have affected both the leading political parties about the same, and the Republican ticket carried the state by a large majority. Stober, Republican candidate for state treasurer, was chosen by about 161,000 majority. Sheatz, Republican candidate for the same office, carried the state in 1907 by 146,224. It is a result the winning party may congratulate itself upon. There is small hope for the Democrats in Pennsylvania, and they must content themselves with little. But their candidate for supreme court justice, C. L. Munson, Esq., of Williamsport, surely did wake things up. He is defeated, but he has the satisfaction of having run so far ahead of his party ticket that his opponent, Judge von Moschzisker, is in the neighborhood of 70,000 votes behind his associates on the ticket. Many voted against the Republican candidate because they did not like his name—a poor reason; many desired that the next supreme court justice should not come from Philadelphia, and Mr. Munson has shown himself a most popular candidate and a great vote getter. The total vote cast for all the state candidates throughout the state will fall about 100,000 short of that cast at the state treasurer election in 1907, when 817,902 votes were polled.

In the county the personal popularity of Mr. Kipp, the Democratic candidate for state treasurer, carried him through and gave him a majority of 340 votes—a result most complimentary to him. But the Republican candidate for auditor general, Sisson, carried the county by 880. On the supreme court judge the Democratic candidate had a majority of 828, and McGovern, Republican candidate for jury commissioner, won over McKay, Democratic, by 1,110 votes. Altogether the result in Bradford county was considerable of a surprise. The Democrats fared far better than they usually do in this Republican stronghold, electing two out of the four candidates chosen. The Prohibition strength in the county was shown by the vote for W. S. H. Heermans for jury commissioner, 624 votes.

The constitutional amendments were defeated ooth in the state and the county, and this was a surprise. Different reasons are assigned for it. We believe they were beaten more by neglect and indifference than anything else, and we regret their defeat—saving the seventh. Both parties were for them in the main, but the voters were not enough interested to mark them. The people are disposed to neglect action on a complicated question. The amendments contemplated a simplification of our electoral machinery and the saving of considerable expense to the taxpayers without any loss of efficiency or curtailment of the people's power. In our judgment, with the exception of the seventh, the defeat of these proposed changes in the constitution is unfortunate. It is quite certain that the voters believe that we have too much politices, but these same voters have deliberately refused to sanction the elimination of one election every year, as well as the saving of a considerable sum. But the majority rules.

The defeat of Tammany in New York city was a result which attracted much attention. It was accomplished by fusion—the only way it ever can be done. Tammany elected Gaynor mayor, but it is a barren victory. Tammany didn't want Gaynor, but nominated him to "save its face." The real defeat of Tammany lies in the fact that it has lost control of the city's money. All its candidates save mayor were beaten, and these defeats deprive the organization of its control over annual appropriations and the issue of debt held by the board of estimate and apportionment. It takes out of its control nearly all the political patronage in New York and Greater New York.

Another incident of note in the general result was in Maryland. That state voted down a proposed constitutional amendment disfranchising negro voters.

Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and Virginia elected complete state tickets from governor down. Minor officers were chosen in Maryland, Nebraska, and a few otuer states. Virginia went Democratic, and Massachusetts and Rhode Island Republican. West Virginia elected Republicans to minor state offices. So far as state elections afford any index to the situation, they show that Republican supremacy in the nation is not endangered.

We believe that the giving of a million dollars for the purpose of ridding the race of a disease is better than spending the same money for libraries or church organs. Much is said against rich men simply because they are rich, but the rich man who will spend his money in doing good is one of civilization's great blessings. The rich man who won't "open up" is good only for dying. The money he won't spend and cannot take with him when he dies may do good after he is gone, and therefore the sooner he goes the better.

In Japan all school children undergo a thorough physical examination in April of each year, and a monthly sanitary inspection by physicians is also made of all school buildings, their contents, water supply and surroundings. Pupils found requiring medical treatment are reported to their parents and the treatment is enforced. Pupils are also examined monthly as to scholastic progress. In this, as in all other ways, Japan cares closely for its children.

THE TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

The annual session of Bradford County's Teachers Institute has become one of our most noted local events and is looked forward to with great interest both by the teachers and the citizens of Towanda, and we know that this paper but expresses the real sentiment of the great majority of our people in bidding the teachers a kindly welcome and hoping they will so combine business with pleasure that they will go home better prepared to take up the great and important burden of public instruction.

The teacher is a commander of a vaster army than ever trod the battlefields of old earth and which in the end will conquer by moral ideas and the peace of educated industrialism. The teachers who are with us today represent the rural schools and those of the boroughs and large villages. The higher education will take care of itself through splendidly endowed colleges, universities and technical institutes. So the great question of the hour is what should be the aim of what may be termed the lower education—that is, for the masses whose time is limited. In other words, what should be the curriculum and mode of teaching in the little red school house on the hill. Very often, as one listens to the discussions in a Teachers' institute—learned discourses on methods of teaching some two dozen of subjects, we are apt to think the primary needs of the common school are overlooked in an attempt to make it a sort of small college.

In discussing the need of our schools in one of the recent speeches Dr. Braumbaugh dwelt with great warmth on what schools should be, and where our weakness lies. We are too much like the Romans, he said, who sent their boys to school in order that they might merely learn to do something, to win personal glory and profit by the training which he receives there. We make our schools training places for the merchant, the banker, the broker, instead of sending our boys out like the Greeks, clean handed, clear headed, with clean consciences, ready to do something.

Rome could not live because her citizens were trained in this false principle. No nation can live with such training in her schools. We must put aside this self-seeking and train our children to be upright, God-fearing men and women. Give them discipline which will make them morally courageous, with intelligence to know the right and courage to do it.

There are a great many things taught in our schools which are forgotten as soon as learned and which play no part in our life training, but which many people insist are the all important things of education. Far more important than teaching capitals of States or dates of battles is the formation of character, and unless the school does this it is not accomplishing its mission, and is a menace rather than a bulwark to the State.

GREATEST AMERICAN INDUSTRY.

One of the greatest of all American industries is the business of educating the boys and girls. The conduct of this business costs as much as $442,000,0000 a year. It takes $240,000,000 to pay the teachers and $80,000,000 each year to provide buildings. Over one-fifth of the entire population of the United States are enrolled as pupils in the schools. The number of teachers employed in the common schools in the school year ended June 1907 was 475,000. Of these 370,000 were women. The average school year is now much longer than in former times, now being 150 days.

When we consider the volume of books, of stationery, of school supplies for all this army of 19,000,000 school children we are impressed with the enormous economical and commercial importance of the school system. In a speech to Normal School students in Georgia the other day Judge Taft said: "There is no higher profession in which self-sacrifice is manifested more clearly and in which more good can be done than that of the teacher, and I hope you will continue it through life." And one of the reasons why self-sacrifice is so clearly manifested is that teaching is the worst paid profession in which a person can engage. There is scarcely a city in the land in which the most menial employment does not pay far better than the average salary received by the teachr in the public schools.

STATE ROADS.

The Pennsylvania legislature has shown a generous spirit in dealing with the good roads movement so far as appropriations are concerned, but it has been singularly neglectful in its failure to give more attention to the methods of construction. Every year witnesses a great waste of the public funds, and it will continue to go on until the whole problem is dealt with a systematic, intelligent way.

Roads are at present built on petition of the taxpayers of a locality, the State paying three-fourths of the entire cost. The petition may be for a road where it would be of benefit to comparatively few travelers. Long stretches of expensive highway have been constructed in sparsely settled sections, having no relation to other improved highways. Some plan should be devised whereby the roads connecting important towns, or radiating from the large towns to the agricultural sections, will be given the preference. The money paid out by the State should be for the benefit of the largest possible number of people.

Well, the country has been "ruined" and "saved" again.

HARD WINTER AHEAD.

'Squire Brown is predicting a hard winter that will arrive early and remain long. Says the 'Squire: "Have you noticed how the blackbirds are already gathering in big flocks and palverin' in the stubble? They are gettin' ready to vamose. It's an indication that cold weather is comin' early. Keep an eye on the dogs and see 'em buryin' more bones than usual. Take a squint at the corn. Every ear has grown long whiskers, and that's a sure sign. Perhaps you've also noticed that the sunflowers bloomed early. That means an early frost. The apple trees have yielded a poor crop, and that means they're storin' up all their sap and energy agin' a hard spell of winter. Now's the time for the wise gazabo to lay in a supply of fuel an' chuck.—Oklahoma Oklahoman.

Pennsylvania Day has become an important occasion at the Pennsylvania State College, second only to commencement. It brings together from all parts of the State men interested in public affairs who want to study the conditions of their State College and to inquire intelligently into its needs. Last year the visitors included the Mayor of Philadelphia Judges of the State, members of the Bar, representatives of the National Guard, and many State officers, in addition to some seventy-five members of the next House and Senate. Friday, Nov. 19, has been set aside as Pennsylvania Day in 1909. Promises of attendance have already come from many prominent men of the State.

In another column of this newspaper the commissioner of fisheries of Pennsylvania announces that he is desirous of forming in Towanda a camp of the United Sportsmen, and that he will be in town on Thursday evening of this week for this purpose. It is to be hoped that a meeting will be held, and that an organization will be effected, and that the movement will accomplish its aim—the protection of fish in waters hereabouts and the proper enforcement of the fish laws. The commissioner of fisheries will be able to give practical suggestions and advice on this matter, and his overture should meet with a hearty response from the local sportsmen.

The good roads movement appears to have reached Burlington and the three supervisors of the township are being prosecuted for failure to keep the stones out of the roads. There is some sense in this. It is practical. If we cannot have new macadam state roads built as fast as we want them, we certainly can keep the stones out of the old ones.

Local option seems to be on a drink prohibitive wave in New York state. Deposit and the town of Stanford have gone dry and Hancock and other towns are moving in the same direction. Should the "dries" continue to carry the day, the movement will have a depressing effect upon the sale of malt and vinous spirits.

CHILD COVERED WITH HIVES

Tormented Two Months—It Itched and Irritated and Scratching Made It Worse—Little Sufferer in Terrible Plight—Several Treatments of No Avail—But at Last the

DREADFUL DISEASE IS CURED BY CUTICURA

"My six year old daughter had the dreadful disease called hives for two months. She became affected by playing with children who had it, although we did not know it. By scratching she caused large sores which were irritating. Her body was a complete sore but it was worse on her arms and back. We employed a physician who left medicine but it did not help her and I tried several remedies but without avail. Seeing the Cuticura Remedies advertised, I thought I would try them. I gave her a hot bath daily with Cuticura Soap and anointed her body with Cuticura Ointment. The first treatment relieved the itching and in a short time the disease disappeared. I recommend the Cuticura Remedies for all skin diseases and give them my greatest praise. Mrs. Geo. L. Fridhoff, R. F. D. 1, Warren, Mich., June 30 and July 13, 1908."

"My son's back was raw from shoulder to shoulder and the width of your hand. I really did not think he ever would be cured. He would scratch until the blood would run and he was like a raw piece of meat. I used different kinds of things but each kind made it worse until I read of the Cuticura Remedies, and one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment cured him like magic. I would not be without it in the house and I have recommended it to all my friends. Mrs. J. D. Maxwell, 6th St., Woodside, Long Island, N. Y., May 21, 1908."

Hundreds of tons of coal are consumed without securing fully the benefit by way of heat that the fuel should afford. This is frequently due to chimney flues being too small. When you put in a furnace or steam heating apparatus be sure that you have a flue of large capacity and when starting up your heater give it a plentiful supply of fresh air. Many furnaces and steam heaters are placed in small and tightly closed rooms. This is a great mistake. Fires to burn efficiently need an abundant supply of fresh air.

A surprising development in the investigation of tuberculosis among cattle in the vicinity of Delhi, N. Y., by an inspector followed the shipment of 71 head of cattle to Albany after they had been condemned as tubercular. Fifty-eight of the 71, after being slaughtered, passed the food test, only 13 showing traces of the disease, and in none of these cases was it at an advanced stage.

Oscar Hammerstein has engaged thirty young women, all of whom were at least six feet tall, to act as ushers in the Philadelphia opera house. Two of the number were six feet four inches tall. The reason such large girls were wanted was because they could be seen in the crowds. All of which leads us to believe that tall girls are coming to the front in Philly.

Voluntary increases of wages by corporations is a fairly good indication of business conditions, labor being usually the first to feel the effect of bad times and the last of good, says The New York Herald's commercial editor. Pittsburg yesterday announced that the Pittsburg & Lake Erie had voluntarily increased the wages of its 35,000 employes 10 per cent., the increase to date from next Monday.

It would be well if every boy in the entire country who is given to smoking cigarettes would cut this out, paste in hat and read it every morning before breakfast: "Out of 2,500 boys recently examined in the schools of Kansas, only six cigarette smokers were found to be what could be termed bright. Ten of the remainder were average students, while all the rest of the 2,500 were found to be poor at their studies or worthless." The "makings" of a cigarette are too often the unmakings of the user and yet there are any number of boys in Bradford county who persist in thinking that the puffing of a cigarette elicits admiration from other persons.

HUNTING ACCIDENT MAY COST FOOT.

Charles Ward Received Load of Shot in Ankle.

As the result of an accident while hunting near Meshoppen Tuesday Charles Ward, a Lehigh engineer may lose his right foot. A charge of shot entered the ankle and the physicians at the Packer hospital where he was taken fear half amputation of the member will be necessary in order to save the patient's life.

In company with Harry Clendenny and another man. Mr. Ward was scouring the woods near Meshoppen for game. After several hours tramping the party sat down to rest, Mr. Clendenny kept his gun in his lap. Mr. Ward who sat on Mr. Clendenny's right was playing with the dog, when the animal in jumping about struck the gun with sufficient force to discharge the weapon and the charge struck Mr. Ward in the ankle. The injured man was carried to Meshoppen by his companions and brought to Sayre on a Lehigh train and taken directly to the hospital. An examination of the wound showed that the leaden pellets had torn away the flesh and injured the bones badly.

Malicious Work.

On September 29th the Hall automatic signals at Meshoppen refused to work and when W. C. Long, the local maintainer made an investigation, he found that one of the batteries had been broken open, the working parts removed, and bond wires which carry the current from rail to rail had been cut. The matter was at once taken up by railroad detectives Hillebrand and Booth and as a result Harry Spencer and Clinton Spencer were taken last Saturday, charged with tampering with the signals. They were taken before Squire Bossard and gave bail in the sum of $200 for their appearance when wanted. A warrant was also issued for the arrest of Charley Bramhall, the Spencer boys claiming that Bramhall is responsible for the damaging of the signals. The Spencer boys have never been accused before of doing criminal acts, and it seems to be the general opinion that another party was the chief offender.—Laceyville Messenger.

Hallowe'en Party at LeRoy.

Miss Mabel and Master Arthur Wilcox of West LeRoy, very pleasantly entertained a company of their young friends at a Hollowe'en party on Friday evening. The house was decorated with Hallowe'en symbols and the guests were reminded of the significance of the night in all of their entertainments, some of which were "The Shadowy Wise Man," who from his sheeted form presented each with wondrous "words of wisdom," and the witch scene where three witches, who called "the Black Man" from the lower regions. He presented everyone with their fortune in rhyme, bade them good evening and promised to meet them in purgatory. Refreshments suitable to the occasion were served and games and music filled the evening About 25 were present and all report a splendid time.

Recognized the Prisoners.

While in Philadelphia the past week, County Detective McCracken visited the jail which confines Mike Comparto and DeMassa, the two Italians who are charged with the murder of two Philadelphia men on the night of Sept. 27. Detective McCracken recognized both men as former residents of Towanda. DeMassa was recognized by a scar on his face. He purchased tobacco at the McCracken store on Bridge street several times while working near Towanda, and was quickly recognized. Mr. McCracken had a speaking acquaintance with Comparto, who knew him at sight. Both prisoners seemed glad to see the Towandian.

Meet by Chance and Wed.

A news dispatch from Bethlehem says: "While visiting friends here, unknown to each other, Miss May Carey and Norman Swartwood, both of Tunkhannock, and former sweethearts, yesterday unexpectedly met on the street. The old flame was rekindled, and deciding to lose no time, the couple hurried to the Lehigh county seat and secured a marriage license. They then went to a 'Squire and were married."

Peculiar Accident.

Near the same spot where his father met death by being run down by an automobile over a year ago, Martin Nolan, a 12-year-old North Scranton boy, was struck by an automobile Tuesday and received injuries of a serious nature. Several of the youth's ribs were broken, his legs were badly lacerated and he is suffering from severe bruises to the body.

M. B. Cutter Honored.

M. B. Cutter who resigned over a year ago as president of the Lehigh Valley railroad company has been elected president and general manager of the Tonopah & Goldfield railroad. The road of which he becomes president is 105 miles in length and an extension 100 miles long is now under construction. It is a feeder for the Southern Pacific.

Amputation Necessary.

Charles Ward, had to submit to an operation for the removal of his right foot, as a result of the shooting accident near Meshoppen on election day. The ankle joint is shattered beyond help and the foot was amputated Wednesday.

THE OFFICIAL VOTE OF BRADFORD COUNTY.

Every One of the Amendments Failed in This County.

The official canvassing board has completed the work of going over the returns from the election of Nov. 2. The official figures do not materially change the unofficial count already published. Following is the number of votes received by each candidate, according to the official count:

State Treasurer.

J. A. Stober, R.	2026
G. W. Kipp, D.	2366
Frank Fish, Pro.	407
Ed. Moore, Soc.	80

Auditor General.

A. C. McGovern, R.	2583
John McKay, D.	1473
W. S. H. Heermans, Pro.	624
A. L. Graham, Soc.	93

Amendments Defeated.

Every one of the ten amendments to the State constitution were lost in Bradford county, the majority of the voters disapproving of the changes, and especially the seventh, which had to do with changing of the method of choosing election boards. Following are the majorities against the amendments according to the official returns:

No. 1, 442; No. 2, 270; No. 3, 325; No. 4, 442; No. 5, 173; No. 6, 295; No. 7, 1127; No. 8, 329; No. 9, 345; No. 10, 343. The majority against the schedule which was printed at the bottom of the ballot was 400.

Has Cupid Been Working Overtime.

Unless indications point in the wrong direction, Daniel Cupid, Esq., the God of Love, has been working overtime among the teachers of Bradford county the past year. Monday the first day of the institute, no less than 26 teachers, actual count, visited the register and recorder's office in the court house, carefully examined the marriage license docket, making a memorandum of the list of questions which must be answered before a permit to wed is granted. One refined looking, and extremely sweet school ma'am coyly inquired of the marriage license clerk if there was not some way in which a license could not be secured without it being published in the papers. She was told how to get around this, and she said she would "caution Harold when the proper time arrived."

Held to Court.

James McCracken of Towanda, is in the county jail, charged with larceny. He was arrested on Nov. 4, by Constable Guy Northrup of Powell, upon complaint of H. J. Bacon of Powell. At a hearing before Justice of the Peace William French at Powell, he was committed to jail in default of bail to await the action of the next grand jury. It is alleged that on Sept. 30, McCracken stole one of the little National saving banks containing $17 that Mr. Bacon's four children had accumulated. The children also had gathered about twenty-five empty bottles which it is alleged McCracken stole and traded for a pint of whisky, which was the clew that led to his arrest. McCracken claims that another party whom he refused to name, is the real culprit.

'Squire Orcutt Buys Home.

'Squire John H. Orcutt, whose home was destroyed by fire a little over a year ago, has purchased the Cash property on North Main street, now occupied by W. T. Harrington. This property was owned by Miss Cash of Philadelphia, and the sale was made through the Guy C. Hollon real estate agency. Mr. Orcutt, and his daughter, Miss Addie Orcutt, expect to take possession of their new home next Spring.

J. L. Ellsworth for Commissioner.

Says Wednesday's Sayre Times-Record: "Jesse Elsworth of Wyalusing, was in town last evening while on his way to his home. Mr. Elsworth is interested in a number of lumber tracts and is paying attention to the work at present. Mr. Ellsworth is being urged to become a candidate from the East for the office of County Commissioner and it is believed that he would be a good man to fill one of the chairs in the County Commissioner's office."

Scarcity of Water in Sullivan County.

Rain would certainly be a great boon to Sullivan county just at present, for there has been none of any consequence for many weeks. Wells that were never dry before are now simply holes in the ground, while springs which formerly gushed forth many barrels of water daily are now merely ozing a very small quantity. The people are compelled to go long distances to get water for domestic purposes.

Kinney Taken to Asylum.

Michael Kinney, the man who was sent from Towanda to the Eastern penitentiary, and who some time ago was declared insane by a commission appointed by Judge Fanning has been taken from the penitentiary to the Danville asylum. Sheriff Dean and County Detective McCracken made the transfer.

CHIEF CLERK THORN THINKS AMENDMENTS CARRIED

Adverse Majority in 49 Counties May Be Nullified by Philadephia.

Forty-nine counties, which have filed official returns at the Capitol show a majority of 19,778 against the first constitutional amendment, which is believed to indicate the trend of sentiment. The total vote in these counties was 84,525 against, and 64,747 in favor. The seventh amendment is far behind.

The 18 counties to hear from are Philadelphia and Allegheny, which will favor the amendments; Lackawanna and York, which are against them, and other counties such as Armstrong, Berks, Butler, Cameron, Carbon, Clarion, Clearfield, Delaware, Greene, Lawrence, Northampton, Tioga and Washington.

The majority of the counties already heard from against the schedule is 22,151.

Chief Clerk Thorn, of the State Department, has this to say as to their probable fate:

It all depends on the vote in Philadelphia whether or not the amendments have been adopted, but it looks as if they will carry by a small majority. An examination of the returns received since Saturday would indicate this. We have nothing official from Philadelphia, but if it keeps up its proportionate vote in the remainder of the wards that have not yet completed the count the amendments will carry by from 5000 to 10,000, all but the seventh, which will be defeated in the State by from 10,000 to 20,000.

"We have had to send some of the returns back to some of the counties for correction in minor matters, such as the writing out of figures; but they will soon get back from the prothonotaries, and we expect to have all of the returns in by the last of the week. We hear that Allegheny gave 12,000 for the amendments, but have not yet received the official returns.

"If Philadelphia keeps up its majorities in the various wards for the amendments it will give 30,000 majority, and that will overbalance the majority against them outside of Philadelphia and give the amendments from 5000 to 10,000 majority. The returns indicate pretty even voting, and the vote is so close that it may take the official count to determine the fate of all the amendments. We shall not be surprised, however, to see the amendments go through."

Judge Von Moschzisker's Nationality.

What is Judge Von Moschzisker's nationality? This is a question which was asked before election, and is still being asked by many. His name has been a handicap to him, but he was not ashamed of it and a few years ago when he was asked by friends to change his name as it would prove a handicap he said to them: "No; I will not change my name. It is the name of my father, and I am not ashamed of it. Succeed or fail the name stands." But few people outside of Philadelphia, know Von Moschzisker's nationalty, and thus the question, "what is he?" The truth is that his father was a native of Poland and fled his country because he loved liberty better than tyranny. The mother of the justice-elect was Miss Harrison, of Philadelphia. He was born in that city, receiving his education in the public schools and private institutions. They who know him best hold him in the highest regard as a citizen and a jurist.

Temperance Sermon.

Because her children had nothing in the house to eat and her husband was drinking away what money he had, Mrs. Michael Soloski of Scranton attempted to batter down, with an ax, the door of William Both's saloon in that city, Saturday morning. The husband was in the place at the time treating all his friends. The police were called and took Soloski, his wife and children to the station house. The husband was later sent to the Hillside home, while the wife and children were sent to the United Charities. Soloski is suffering from a broken arm, but as soon as he recovers he will be compelled to properly support his family.

The Biggest One.

Petatoes, pertaters!" Well, the big tuber has been discovered, mined and carted to the Mirror office. J. M. Corson of Evergreen laid a potato on our imposing stone Thursday that made the type-lice whistle and gave the devil a touch of the "tuber-colossus" (which is Latin for monstrous taters.) This demon of the potato patch weighed 3 lbs. and 7 ozs. in its shirt tail and stocking feet.—New Albany Mirror.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portions of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflamation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

FORMER LAQUIN MAN FREED OF CHARGE OF BIGAMY.

Court Did Not Think Hinkley Intended to Commit Crime.

Raymond A. Hinkley, formerly of Laquin, Lackawanna fireman with headquarters at Elmira, who was arrested in Buffalo a week ago on a Rochester warrant charging him with bigamy, was discharged in Elmira Police Court last Wednesday afternoon after a hearing.

Hinkley who is twenty-two years old on September 22 married Edna Swayze at Elmira. About two yeras before he had been married to a young lady in Laquin. He had known her only two weeks and they were married against the protests of both their parents. They lived together two weeks and parted.

Anna Hinkley began divorce proceedings against the defendant in Wednesday's case. Notice of the divorce action was published in the papers of Bradford county.

With the idea that the divorce was effective Hinkley married Edna Swayze of Elmira. He obtained a marriage license in the regular way and gave publicity to the marriage.

His first wife was living in Rochester and when she heard about the marriage she had her husband arrested on the charge of bigamy. It was shown in court that the divorce will have been granted within the next week. It also was shown that there was no intent to commit bigamy on the part of the defendant. He thought he was free.

When the divorce will have been obtained within a few days, Hinkley and Miss Swayze will be married again.

POLLUTION OF PENNSYLVANIA STREAMS TO BE CHECKED

Tannery Companies Have Taken Steps in This Direction.

A news dispatch from Harrisburg says: On his return yesterday from a tour of the northwestern part of the state, Fish Commissioner William E. Meehan announced that the suppression of serious pollution of the Allegheny and Susquehanna rivers and their tributaries is in prospect.

"It is my opinion that the pollution of the Allegheny by waste from oil refineries and of the Susquehanna river by tannery drainage will be materially checked in a short time," said Mr. Meehan.

"At Warren and other places I have conferred with representative oil and tannery men, and I find they are disposed to obey the law, I was able to show the oil men that the waste now running into the streams contains a sufficient percentage of pure oil to warrant their adopting scientific methods to save it, and they have promised to do so.

"The Elk Tanning company, which operates sixty or more tanneries along the Allegheny, Susquehanna and Clarion rivers, is taking steps to solve the pollution problem. In this case also I was able to show them that the waste is well worth saving."

The state health department is actively engaged in a campaign against sewage contamination in the Allegheny watershed, at least twenty towns being now under consideration.

F. W. WORTHINGTON STRIKES TWO GOOD OIL WELLS IN OHIO.

Now Making Thorough Test For Petroleum at Groton, N. Y.

Expert drillers under the direction of Fred W. Worthington, who had the tests made at South Branch the past Summer, are putting down test wells for oil at Groton, N. Y. For two years oil has been flowing into a well formerly drilled nearby, and the quantity increases. It is pumped out of the well into a tank and there skimmed off and has been for some time used for lubricating purposes at Groton. The drillers claim that the prospects for a big oil strike at Groton are the most promising they have seen in years.

Within the past two weeks Mr. Worthington has struck two good wells at West Mecca, near Warren, Ohio. Both wells are good producers of an extra fine grade of petroleum, and will prove big moneymakers. A number of Towandians are financially interested in the wells.

WELLSBORO MAN DIED AT POSTOFFICE DOOR.

Assistant Postmaster Sullivan Succumbs to Heart Disease.

William Sullivan, assistant postmaster of Wellsboro, died very suddenly Thursday night of last week. He had just left the postoffice after concluding the work of the day, and was on his way to a meeting of the hose company, when stricken with heart diseaes. Friends found him leaning against the building outside the rear door of the postoffice, and he was carried into an adjoining store and several physicians summoned. Life was extinct, however.

Mr. Sullivan was fifty-three years of age. He was employed for a time in the freight office but for over twenty-one years he has been deputy postmaster in this borough serving during the terms of Postmaster Doumaux, a part of the term of James L. White and also with Postmasters Wright, Roy and Champaign. Mr. Sullivan in politics was a Democrat but had served under four Republican postmasters which was a proof of the competent manner in which he kept the affairs of his department. He was an authority on postal affairs and was the secretary of the Deputy Postmasters' Association of Pennsylvania.

He took a lively interest in the work of the volunteer firemen of Wellsboro, and was prominent in the affairs of the Seven County Volunteer Firemen's association. He has visited Towanda several times, the last time to attend the firemen's convention.

Affording Extra Haircut.

Clifford Mosteller, aged ten years, stole $40 from a store in Williamsport. He was suspected first because he bought a whole bunch of bananas, then took 20 boys to a picture shows. While in a barber shop, he insisted on having his hair cut, after it had been cut but yesterday. Officer Russie arrested him. Thirty dollars of the stolen money is gone.

Big Increase in Cost.

The county commissioners have been notified that hereafter Bradford county will have to pay the sum of $4.25 per week for the care of criminally insane at the Danville asylum. The former price charged was but $1.75, but as the state no longer pays a share of the keep of criminally insane, the entire burden rests upon the counties from which they are sent.

Mrs. Eveline Hall Wright, aged 81, of Patton township, who married a man half her age and intended to turn her estate over to him, has had a guardian appointed for her by the court at Pittsburg. Her children petitioned the court to do this.

Thomas Nevlon, of Renovo, had his patent gas furnace to weld the frames of locomotives given a trial by the New York Central at Avis, Clinton county. It is entirely successful. The locomotive does not need to be removed from the track and there is a saving of $170 in the process.

Peter, the chimpanzee which is said to be almost as intelligent as a human being and is now touring in vaudeville in America, will not be able to stop in a hotel at Pittsburg where he is going next week as his advance manager can find no place willing to entertain the monkey.

During the month of October 73 oil wells were drilled in Butler county. Eleven of these were dry. The total new production for the month was 302 barrels. The pipe line report for the month will show three big new wells. One was of 200, one of 40 and one of 25 barrel production.

Jacob Batch, workman in a planing mill at Wyncote, had his eyes gouged out, his nose practically knocked off and his brain penetrated by splinters when a piece of wood on which he was working broke and part of it flew against his face with terrible force. Notwithstanding his terrible wounds the man lived for nearly three hours, suffering terrible agony.

One million dollars will be spent by the Allegheny Steel company to improve its plant at Tarentum and Brackenridge. Half of the amount will be used immediately and the remainder at a later date. When the work is done the force of men will have to be enlarged. When the concern took over the plants of the Reliance Steel company its capital stock was increased to $2,500,000.

Mrs. R. J. Bell of near Wildwood, was mysteriously shot while she was alone in her home and her body was found by her children on their return from school. A bullet hole was in her right temple and a revolver lay beside her. It is thought that she was examining the weapon and it went off. Her husband works at Pittsburg and as she was alone for a great part of the day she kept the weapon to defend herself in case of necessity.

In Philadelphia, the committee of fifteen will still keep up its fight for strip tickets on the transit company's lines. In February members of both councils will be chosen and as by the agreement between the company and the city the councils are given certain powers in the matter of fares it is probable that the new councils will be asked to define their attitude on the question if the tickets are not re-established before that time.

Policemen Otto Campbell and George Graham of Grafton, Allegheny county, arrested a man whom they caught operating a hand organ and acting suspiciously. They passed a doctor's office on the way to the station and the physician immediately rushed out and offered to bail the prisoner. The hurdy-gurdy man had kept silent to the point of aggravation and when the doctor started to talk the mysterious man burst out into a long laugh. He was a Hallowe'en masquerader.

While a horse behind which they were driving was being given a drink from Lake Minola, near Stroudsburg, it was scared in some way and dashed into the water, pulling the buggy with it and two students of the Fairview academy were drowned. The unfortunate ones were Albert Kocher of Ross Common, and Edith Frantz of Broadheadsville. Miss Annie Shupp was also in the party and was found out in the lake 40 feet from the shore in water up to her neck. Miss Frantz fell from the vehicle and the young man tried to rescue her but both perished.

FIRST ANNUAL FAIR OF EASTERN BRADFORD GRANGE

Held at LeRaysville Last Friday and Saturday, Oct. 29 and 30.

The first annual fair of the Eastern Bradford Grange was held at LeRaysville on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 29-30, 1909. Although the attendance the first day was not as great as on the second, the enthusiasm over the products of the farm certainly must have made the Grangers feel that their first attempt was appreciated says the LeRaysville Times. For one to go into details as to the exhibits would be almost impossible but it must be said that the exhibit of butter, potatoes, corn, oats, millet, sorghum, apples, cabbage, turnips and beets certainly places Eastern Bradford in the foremost ranks as an agricultural district.

When one sees eighteen potatoes that weigh thirty-two pounds and alongside one that tips the scales at a trifle over three pounds they certainly feel that the farms of Eastern Bradford are not played out but are still to be counted upon. While the last season was an exceptionally dry one and all were fearful that the farm products would be a failure one fact has been clearly demonstrated and that is that the soil will produce crops much better when everyone is anxiously looking for rain.

The agricultural products were exhibited upon the first floor, while the ladies with a line of fancy articles occupied the second. The latter was tastefully arranged with all those things that attract the eye of the keepers of the home, and that they were flattering to be skill and ingenuiy of the farmers' wives and daughters cannot for one moment be doubted. They furnished dinner Saturday to all and that everyone got a dollar dinner for a small price will never be denied by those who sat down and partook of the bountiful repast. After all had been served, the exhibits were either sold at private sale or auctioned.

Eastern Bradford Grange is to be congratulated upon the successful outcome of their first undertaking in this line and all who attended hope that next year they will give another exhibition of their thriftiness.

Meshoppen Growing.

Says the Meshoppen Enterprise, K. C. Mott's interesting and enterprising weekly: "If the Enterprise don't miss its guess there will be a big increase in the population of Meshoppen borough when the census is taken by the enumerator next Summer. Every house in town is now occupied and during the past six or seven years many new houses have been erected. Since the last census taken in 1900, there will average two or three fine, new houses built in Meshoppen every year. Four new homes have been built here during the past Summer and each of them will cost from $1,500 to $3,000."

Unselfish Man.

"You can keep my wife, but bring back my furniture," said William Dear in aldermanic court at Wilkes-Barre, where he was prosecuting William Carl for larceny of furniture. It appeared that Dear's wife had been living with Carl for some time and that the couple had taken some furniture with them. Dear insisted that he did not want his wife, but placed a higher value on his furniture.

Munson Can Have Place.

The vote given by Lycoming county for C. LaRue Munson for Judge of Supreme Court was a history-maker. In Williamsport alone he has 3,091, as against von Moschzisker's 521, and in the county as a whole he has a plurality of 5,840 over the Republican candidate. One deduction from this overwhelming vote is that it points directly to him as the candidate for Judge of Lycoming county next year, if he wants it.

Dwelling Burned.

At 6:30 on Tuesday morning of last week the dwelling of the late H. Browning Taylor of Brushville was burned to the ground. The cause was a defective chimney and the owner, Stephen Trowbridge, was able to get his household goods out of the burning building. There was an insurance of $500 on the property.

Wage Increase.

A correspondent writing from Powell says: "A portion of the men working in the tannery in this place were made glad on Saturday evening, October 23, by an increase of their wages of from five to twenty-five cents a day, according to their work."

"HOOKWORM" DISEASE SAID TO BE KNOWN IN TOWANDA

Physicians Hear of it, But Not to Any Extent—Ailment Is an Old One.

Since John D. Rockefeller has contributed $1,000,000 to a commission for the study of the "Hookworm" disease, numerous Towanda people have been talking about it and wondering if the disease prevailed here to any extent and whether any of the appropriation could be secured by home people for the purpose of fighting it.

M. E. Miller, police chief and secretary of the Board of Health, when asked as to the presence of the disease here, said:

"There is a little here, but not enough to amount to anything. The disease is not new, it has been known for years, and is discussed in the medical works."

One of the medical writers who discusses the "hookworm" under the name of Uncinara duodenalis, is William Osier M. D., who has a lengthy account in his "Principles and Practice of Medicine," published in 1899. He says among other things:

"The parasites live in the upper portion of the small intestine, chiefly in the jenunum. They are easily seen, the male being from 6 to 10 millimetres long and the female from 10 to 18 millimetres. The mouth is provided with a series of toothlike hooks by means of which the parasite attaches itself to the mucuous membrane. The existence of the parasite has long been known. It has also been shown to be the cause of the anaemia to which miners and brickmakers are subject.

"Throughout Europe the disease has been widely spread by the employment of Italian and Polish laborers. In certain Indian provinces it is extremely prevalent and serious."

The most prominent authority on "Hookworm" in Philadelphia and vicinity is Dr. Allen J. Smith, professor of pathology in the University of Pennsylvania.

Towanda Threatened.

A veteran resident of Towanda, suggests that as the disease is said to be closely allied with laziness, a careful inspection of the loafers on the various corners should be made on the next mild day, to see if any of the germs can be detected there. He says he is certain the symptoms of some ailment can be detected if a microscope is used.

Playfully Shoots Sister.

Susan Everet, 18 years old, of Hunlocks Creek, near Wilkes-Barre was accidentally shot in the side by her brother, Marvin, aged 14, Thursday. The boy procured a revolver from a bureau drawer, and, thinking it was not loaded, pointed it at his sister and pulled the trigger. The girl fell in a faint on the floor, but the wound is not serious.

Bolts Return to Church.

ANNUAL MEETING OF LOCAL ADVISORY BOARD.

Children's Home Society Doing Good Work—Officers Elected.

The local Advisory Board of the Children's Home Society of Penna. held its annual meeting Thursday afternoon, Nov. 4th, at the home of Mrs. G. E. Frost. In the absence of the president, Mrs. N. N. Betts was in the chair. The secretary's report was read and approved and the treasurer reported that sixty-nine dollars had been paid for membership dues during the past year.

Miss Trego of Pottstown, one of the district missionaries of the state organization, was present and spoke of the work of the society. Over a thousand children have been placed in good homes in Pennsylvania alone since the organization of the society, thirty-five of these have been taken from Bradford county.

The session of the board closed with the election of officers for the ensuing year, resulting as follows:

ANALYZING THE VOTE.

Amendments Believed to Have Been Carried; Seventh Cut.

Latest returns from various counties in Pennsylvania do not materially change the early estimate of 161,685 plurality in Pennsylvania for J. A. Stober for State Treasurer, head of the Republican ticket. The returns have been counted in many counties. A. E. Sisson runs slightly behind Stober's plurality, while Judge Robert Von Moschzisker ran far behind his ticket, but was elected by a wide margin.

C. LaRue Munson, Judge Von Moschzisker's Democratic opponent, ran far ahead of his colleagues in nearly all interior counties and greatly cut down the Judge's plurality in Philadelphia as compared with that for Stober and Sisson. Munson carried a large number of counties that gave pluralities for Stober and Sisson.

There was more cutting of the ten amendments than was looked for, but the best information at hand is that all of them were adopted.

Annual Hunting Expedition.

Jacob Albrecht, Henry Hessner and Bruce Wilson, wealthy residents of Brooklyn, N. Y., have arrived at Sugar Run, this county, for their annual hunt. They will make their headquarters with J. B. Shoemaker, who was then game protector as well as fish warden and there was considerable bother. Mr. Vandermark came to Towanda Wednesday, and secured hunting licenses for each of the three gentlemen, and will proceed at once to bag game. Rabbits and pheasants are unusually plentiful in the vicinity of Sugar Run.

BRADFORD COUNTY SOCIETY OF NEW YORK ELECTS OFFICERS

Information Reaches Home County Via Automobile Messenger.

The following message inscribed upon yellow tissue paper was received in Towanda yesterday, having come via automobile delivery from little old New York, the pasture field for ambition and place of quietude where many Bradford county people, and especially City of Promise residents go for their annual rest:

New York, Nov. 4, 1909.—Having discovered the North Pole, sailed an airship around Grant's Tomb, made the Hudson Fulton celebration a whooping success and elected a new mayor of New York as a part of the program for 1909, the Bradford County Society of New York is planning to open the new year with the greatest dinner it has ever given—one that "will make 'em fairly gasp" to use the chaste experession of ex-President Liston L. Lewis. It will be the seventh annual dinner of the Society and Harry L. Horton will be the guest of honor.

The annual business meeting was held at Cavanagh's in West 23d street on Saturday night and all the woes of a hot campaign were forgotten while the members turned out to look after the affair of the Old Home Society. President Lewis who is an active member of the Republican Club, and whose laurels as a spellbinder are worn as gracefully in New York as they were in Canton and Towanda, declined an invitation to speak at Cooper Union to attend the meeting and help choose his successor. He was urged for a second term but declined and urged that the policy of "passing the honors around" be maintained all along the line. There were several speeches made as to this policy and it was pretty well agreed that the permanency and future interests of the Society demand that new men be pushed to the front and trained to carry on the work which has been so well begun. This is by no means the "shelving" of the old workers but rather relieving them of the hard work by giving to the younger element a larger representation in both executive offices and on committees. All the veterans headed by Mr. Horton "The Uncle" of all the members nodded approval of the idea.

Secretary Lynch nominated for president John E. McCauley who as treasurer has been one of the hardest workers and one of the most retiring when credit has been passing, in the organization. Craig W. Green, Allen W. Garnert and William H. Freedman seconded the nomination and the vote was unanimous. McCauley is a loyal member of Tammany so his election ought "to hold" those who have any idea that there is any politics in the Society. Not even the Hearst men present protested that the Tiger had swallowed Old Bradford or cried "Fraud" in the ballot or the count.

The election of Mr. McCauley will be one of the most popular in the history of the Society. The "Youngsters" had made an excellent start, and they clinched it when Mr. Gernert nominated as vice president Merton E. Griswold who was graduated from the red schoolhouse at Canton into a printing office and who is now manager of the Roger & Co. plant, one of the finest in the city. He too has been a hustler and again the vote was unanimous.

There was only one name mentioned for secretary—that of Jeremiah J. Lynch who has done the work under protest for four years and who pleaded to be relieved this year but in vain. "Well, having been vindicated I'll never ask for the office again" he said and proceeded to get even, by nominating Norman P. Hicks who came from over Rome way and who is now treasurer of a big insurance company in the fiancial district, as treasurer. Mr. Hicks tried to dodge pleading that he was not in the young man class but the bluff was too apparent and he was elected with a rush.

Among the vice presidents for the county named were Liston Bliss of Troy, L. T. McFadden of Canton, John Murray of South Waverly, J. H. Murrelle of Sayre, Kirby Harris of Athens, William Maxwell of Towanda, Louis Piollet of Wysox, Langdon H. Marsh of Wyalusing, and A. Jackson Whitney of Rome.

Henry M. Cleaver was named as head of the Executive Committee for "he loves work" and work goes with that place. Dr. Charles F. Smith was put at the head of the Reception committee and Attorney C. A. Thompson of that on Entertainment because they are "live ones" and general discussion had shown the need of live ones there.

Many suggestions were made during the discussion as to plans by which the coming dinner could be made even more enjoyable to the guests and especially to those from the county than have been to its six predecessors. Craig W. Green of the Evening World was made chairman of the press committee mainly because he knew the ropes, or the society thought he did, which amounts to the same thing. He was directed to get on the job without delay.

The full committees will be announced by the chairmen later. Mr. Horton who is widely known as a sweet singer and an orator who has spoken, he admits, before many of the crowned heads, promised the gathering that as guest of honor he would be prepared to make the effort of his life and if there is a hole in the bottom of the sea the guests at the dinner will know all about it.

The dinner will be held early in January.

DAIRYING AT STATE COLLEGE.

Practical Courses for Milkmen, Butter and Cheesemakers.

The winter courses at State College begin November 30 and close February 25. Three are offered, in dairying, namely: Dairy husbandry, buttermaking and cheesemaking. The general dairy husbandry course is designed to fit men to manage dairy farms.

The courses in butter and cheesemaking are for men who intend to work in butter or cheese factories and are especially valuable for buttermakers who wish to make a special study of starters, crem-ripening, moisture, control or any other special phase. The students work every forenoon in the large commercial creamery, where the work is entirely practical.

Cheesemakers who wish instruction in the handling of starters for cheesemaking, the yield of cheese, moisture, curd and rennet tests, or in the use of acid tests, will have opportunity of giving these subjects special study. The cheese work is given in a well-equipped laboratory.

Romance Recalled.

The wife of Edward McCormick, a Wilkes-Barre character, is endeavoring to effect his release from the county prison, where he is serving a 30 day sentence. A unique romance surrounds their marriage. While serving a sentence in the county prison under the name of Rose Ryan, she met McCormick, who was also an inmate of the jail, and they carried on a courtship by means of notes. Following their release they were married.

Say Now, "I Will Try These Foods Shot from Guns"

Order one package, either Puffed Wheat or Puffed Rice. Then you will know the whole story.

Hear what your folks say when they taste the gigantic grains. See if they ask for more.

Do this tomorrow—order the package now. Do it to learn just how much you are missing.

Hosts of housewives have already done this, and been glad that we told them to do it.

And their folks have been glad.

For no other cereal foods can compare with them. None are even half so good.

The result is this: Those folks last month served seventeen million dishes of these delightful foods.

Can you doubt that you are going to like them as well as the rest of the world?

One package will tell.

Puffed Wheat—10c

Puffed Rice—15c

These are the foods invented by Prof. Anderson, and this is his curious process:

The whole wheat or rice kernels are put into sealed guns. Then the guns are revolved for sixty minutes in a heat of 550 degrees.

That fierce heat turns the moisture in the grain to steam, and the pressure becomes tremendous.

Then the guns are unsealed, and the steam explodes. Instantly every starch granule is blasted into a myriad particles.

The kernels of grain are expanded eight times. Yet the coats are unbroken, the shapes are unaltered. We have simply the magnified grain.

One package will tell you why people delight in them. Order it now.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

home life, pleasures and companions, manner of living etc. The bodily ailments of children have much to do with their mentality. The interest in children is repaid a thousand fold. At Utica, N. Y., there is a parents and teachers association which meets occasionally. The teacher is the force behind the whole thing but never an officer. The interest is contagious. Such an organization would be a splendid thing for rural districts, for the responsibility is divided. Boys and girls leave school because they loose their interest. What a power it would be for this country if there were schools provided for those who so sorely need them.

Again Prof. March devoted a few minutes to the learning of some new songs.

As chairman of the Committee of queries Mrs. Stiles asked for questions to be sent to the committee and they will then be considered before the Institute.

Superintendent Putnam asked the chairmen of committees to report to his office at one o'clock.

At Mr. Putnam's suggestion Dr. Henry Houch was greeted by the chatauqua salute from the teachers of the county. As this is the twentieth visit of Dr. Houch to the institute he is by no means a stranger to anyone.

In his characteristic way he prefaced his address with various and interesting remarks more or less reminiscent. Dr. Houck hopes that those who visit schools go in the right mood. There is certainly no need for a severe critic. It is a teacher with a big loving heart that molds the children and holds them and the situation is hers. He also believes that the school should begin without any confusion or disturbance. The opening exercises should be impressive. Dr. Houck is very interesting and entertaining as well as instructive.

Tuesday Afternoon.

The first half hour as usual was used for a drill in singing. People must hear and see Prof. March to appreciate his work before an institute.

A large number of citizens are interested in the day sessions, for during yesterday afternoon the opera house was filled.

Mr. Putnam made several announcements in regard to the sectional meetings for today. All pupils deserving certificates of reward should receive them.

"Gradation in Technical Training" was Mr. Bennett's theme in his talk Tuesday afternoon. He said that a child should not make a movement or a mark on his paper except as he is commanded. Perfect concerted action, the use of both mind and hand does for the child what military training does for the soldier. Children are writing just as well as they have been taught. Use both hands in these drills. The first month's work should be technical and always varied. As before Mr. Bennett asked everyone present to practice these exercises under his direction. The child makes his thought concrete by action. There are hundreds of these cultural drills. Mr. Bennett thinks that good teaching is that which gets a child to understand what we want him to do. There must be a relaxed condition of the muscles. The hand should be as a unit, not as one part more prominent than another. Many of these rhymic drills train the mind as well as the muscles. He gave many clever devices for interesting the children while they are all the time learning. The key that unlocks writing is technical exercise.

A few moments were gladly given to music and everyone was refreshed and eager to hear the next address.

Dr. Benedict began his talk by reading a paper written by Woodrow Wilson who severely criticises the reading ability of the average school boy or girl. A good school must have three things, good organization, and good discipline make good teaching easy. The keynote or the foundation of everything is in the end the teaching. The organization comes first from the principal, then teacher then the janitor, but the discipline depends first upon the teacher. The organization of a school is the secret, hidden force that makes it go smoothly. A good disciplined school is one where it is easier to do right than to do wrong. Good discipline is a form of self government and self-government is character. Good teaching will result in good studying, definite information, habit of work, sterling character. When these are united in one person he will be a good citizen. No school is a failure whose products of boys and girls become good citizens. Dr. Benedict's subject was "Things That Pay".

Prof. March conducted more exercises in singing the new songs in the books.

The last period of the afternoon session was ably filled by a talk by Dr. Henry Houch who took for his topic, the dismissal of school. He believes that music is a potent factor in the discipline and above all in the life and character of the child and the school. He preaches patriotism.

There was a meeting of the Committee on Resolutions at the Court House at four o'clock.

Dr. Rose's Lecture.

As the second number of the institute lecture course Dr. Rose, who was substituted for Dr. Levy, gave an illustrated lecture on "Longfellow in Evangeline Land." Dr. Rose gave an illustrated lecture on "Parsifal" during the last year's institute, and those who heard him last night were as well pleased as a year ago, and were glad that he took Dr. Levy's place. The lecture is very interesting and entertaining, and especially so to those familiar with the great poet's masterpiece.

ILLNESS CAUSES DELAY IN DRILLING FOR COAL.

Test in Colley Township, Sullivan County, Has Been Stopped.

Says the Dushore Herald: "William N. Moulter of Kingston, F. B. Walton of Plymouth, Martin D. Beirne and Stephen Jones of Wilkes-Barre, C. A. Johnson of Lopez, have been drilling on the farm of Lloyd W. Kinsley in Colley township, for coal. The drilling was in charge of Mr. Moulter, who is now seriously ill with typhoid pneumonia, and the drilling has been stopped after reaching a depth of 120 feet. No coal was found.

"About five years ago E. J. Billings of New Albany, and Edward Sherman of Ulster drilled on the same farm to a depth of 300 feet finding several small veins of coal and at a depth of 180 found a good vein of coal but as the core was very much broken up when coming to the surface it was impossible to tell just what the depth of the vein was. The sickness of the foreman of the gentlemen who are now drilling has prevented them from going on with the work. Mr. Kinsley says they have treated him well and he is very anxious to have them go on with the drilling. The indications are that there is coal on Mr. Kinsley's farm, but at considerable depth, and it is hoped that the above named gentlemen will test the matter thoroughly."

Road Controversy.

A petition signed by many taxpayers has been presented to the township commissioners asking that the public highway leading from the old tannery to Tozer's bridge along the west bank of the Chemung river be vacated for the reason that as a public thoroughfare it has become burdensome to maintain and that comparatively but little traffic passes over it. A remonstrance against vacating this particular strip of highway is also being circulated which is receiving as many signatures as the petition.—Athens News.

Have Purchased Fine Property.

Lewis Gillette and C. M. Finney have purchased the William Dittrich homestead property on York avenue from the Dittrich estate. The house which was partly destroyed by fire seven years ago, is being torn down, to make room for two modern residences, one for Mr. Gillette and the other for Mr. Finney. It is a double lot, and will accommodate two houses very nicely. This is one of the finest residence locations in Towanda.

Slight Blaze.

A slight blaze in the barn owned by Hon. George W. Kipp, on York avenue, took fire Friday morning about 7:30, and the fire department was called out. Cloths which had been used in varnishing and oiling floors ignited from spontaneous combustion on the basement floor, and the flames burned through the floor above before being extinguished. The Franklin Steamer company had a stream on the blaze in a very short time after the alarm was turned in.

FALLING STARS WILL SOON BE NUMEROUS.

Earth Will Run Into the Leonids About the 12th of This Month.

The Leonid showers of falling stars are due to fall on the nights of November 12, 13 and 14, and Bradford Countians will watch the skies for this beautiful display of meteors. Last year's display fixes the date for this year for many years to come.

The November meteors will scarcely be at their best this year. In fact the earth cuts their orbit at perhaps its most sparsely settled spot. This shower has a period roughly corresponding to the generations of human life, computed roughly at three to the century. The last great display was due in 1899, but it was a disappointment when compared with former manifestations of this periodic maximum.

This year the earth crosses the orbit of this belt of minuscule members of the solar system at a point ten years away from the maximum density, about a third of the circuit of that orbit. The prospects, therefore, are that the display will not approach anything like the brilliance that from time to time has been observed.

On the other hand the exhibition, chiefly in the early morning hours of November 14, should far exceed the count of the wandering stars which blaze for a moment almost every night, silent flights of cold incandescence.

The pea size estimate is generally accepted as the measure of the components of the periodic shower meteors. Only slightly larger is the estimate made by Dr. Johnstone Stoney in his address to the British Association upon the Leonids of 1866.

"The meteors themselves," he said, "are probably little pebbes, the larger about an ounce, or perhaps two ounces, in weight and spaced in the densest part of the swarm at intervals of one or two miles asunder every way. The thickness of the stream is about 100,000 miles, which, however, is a mere nothing compared with its enormous length. The width is such that the earth when it passes obliquetly through the stream is exposed to the downpour of meteors for about five hours."

New Assistant Trainmaster.

Says the Sayre Times-Record: "Joseph H. Bush, well known to the residents of this valley has been appointed assistant trainmaster of the Wyoming Division of the Lehigh with headquarters at Wilkes-Barre. Mr. Bush has many friends who will be pleased to hear that Mr. Bush has received a deserved promotion. "Joe" Bush, as he is familiarly known in this section, resides in Athens and is well known as a football player. He entered the employ of the Lehigh about 17 years ago and was promoted until he became an engineman. The first of this year he was promoted to the office of assistant road foreman of engineer and then in May he was again promoted to air brake inspector. Since then he has been in charge of the airbrake instruction car. He assumes the duties of assistant trainmaster at once."

Remarkable Case.

A remarkable case has been brought to light at Wilkes-Barre. Several days ago a woman was detected in the act of shopifting in a department store, but slipped away before the police could be called. She left behind her two small children, a boy and a girl. Both were taken to the United Charities, where they stoutly refuse to tell their names or where they live. They are being held in the hope that the woman will return for her offspring.

Troy Robbery.

Says the Troy Gazette-Register: Wednesday evening while Mr. and Mrs. E. Frank Lilley were attending prayer meeting at the Baptist church, a thief forced an entrance to their house in High street and stole a gold watch belonging to Mr. Lilley from one of the bedrooms. The fastening of the window was broken in prying it open. No clue to the thief save an apparent familiarity with the premises."

Inspection Trip.

Lehigh Supervisor W. H. Kane left Sunday afternoon on a special train running as a second No. 7, with other officials of the company, for a week's inspection trip. HALLSTEAD MAN A HERO: HIS WIDOW PENSIONED.

Michael Duffy Lost His Life While Saving a Woman.

Michael J. Duffy, who, while acting as a special officer for the Lackawanna Railroad Co., at Halstead, Susquehanna county, lost his life in rescuing a woman from in front of a train, has now been declared a hero by no less eminent an authority than the commissioners in charge of the Carnegie Hero Fund.

On the afternoon of January 11, 1909, Duffy was standing on the platform of the Lackawanna station at Hallstead with several other people. A woman, who had just alighted from a local train attempted to cross the tracks just as the Lackawanna Limited, No. 6, came into view around a curve. The train was late and was traveling at a high rate of speed. Duffy saw that the woman was directly in the path of the train and instantly sprang across the intervening tracks to rescue her. He succeeded in shoving her from the tracks far enough to keep her from injury, but was himself struck by the engine and ground to pieces.

Now for the act he has been declared a hero and his wife, Mary A. Duffy, has been voted a silver medal and a pension of $40 per month.

TELEPHONES ON RAILWAY TRAINS IS THE LATEST.

Erie is Trying Out System Which May Prove a Boom to Railroading.

The Erie Railroad company is testing out a new automatic signal system. The company has 12 miles of track between Newark and South Paterson equipped with the third rail of the Electrical Automatic Railroad Safety Signal company, and yesterday a special train containing railroad officials and Frederick Lacroix, the inventor, made a trip.

The engine has a brush arrangement that connects with the third rail. In the cab are instruments that will bring the train to a stop the moment it enters a block on which there is another train or a broken rail, or any other obstruction.

The train is stopped automatically. Then the engineer takes down his telephone and calls up the nearest station and asks what is the matter. He can also talk with the other engines on the line.

A time meter, similar to the paper disk time clock of the watchman in the big buildings, renders it impossible for him to make a false report as to the time he received the danger signal and what he did. It is all written out for him in red ink.

Mr. Laxroix called up Nutley while the train was south of that station asked to be switched to the long distance telephone and put his engine in connection with the New York office. "I could call up Chicago as easily, and we could talk as plainly. It makes train wrecks almost impossible, and it makes it possible for a New Yorker whose wife is speeding to Frisco on a train to call her up. Trains can have news tickers in the smoking cars and every birth its telephone connected with the outside world."

Another signal in the engineer's cab is a green light that burns as long as the track is clear, but goes dark as soon as a danger zone is entered.

A push button in every station will stop any train along the track for miles. As soon as the station agent pushes this button the train comes to a sudden stop. The engineer calls back to find what it is all about. The agent explains and gives orders.

Record Breaking Freight Business.

The Lehigh Valley railroad is doing the biggest freight business for this period of the year in its history, according to one of the local freight officials. The business has increased so much that the regular trains could not handle it, necessitating additional trains and to operate these the officials found it necessary to promote 15 firemen to serve as engineers and 15 brakemen were promoted to fill the positions made vacant by the advance of the firemen. Most of these men are operating trains running out of Coxton over the cutoff to Lehighton, over which the Lehigh sends a majority of its freight business for New York and Philadelphia.—Wilkes-Barre Times-Leader.

Painfully Injured.

Wesley Robinson was painfully injured on the stage of the Keystone opera house Saturday evening. Before the Howe moving picture show, Mr. Robinson, who is a member of the staff of stage hands, was handling a double barrel shot gun used to give a realistic sound to the firing of the twelve inch guns which was one of the feature pictures. Two shells had been placed in the gun, and as Mr. Robinson was closing the breech, one of the shells was exploded. The wadding and powder struck one of Mr. Robinson's feet, painfully injuring two of his toes. Dr. T. Ben Johnson dressed the injuries.

What a Woman Will Not Do.

There is nothing a woman will not do to regain her lost beauty. She ought to be fully as zealous in preserving her good looks. The herb drink called Lane's Family Medicine or Lane's Tea is the most efficient aid in preserving a beautiful skin, and will do more than anything else to restore the roses to faded cheeks. Sloan's Liniment is the best remedy for sprains and bruises.

It quiets the pain at once, and can be applied to the tenderest part without hurting because it doesn't need to be rubbed—all you have to do is to lay it on lightly. It is a powerful preparation and penetrates instantly—relieves any inflammation and congestion, and reduces the swelling.

Here's the Proof.

Mr. L. ROLAND, Bishop of Scranton, Pa. says:—"On the 7th of this present month, as I was leaving the building at noon for lunch, I slipped and fell, spraining my wrist. I returned in the afternoon, and at four o'clock I could not hold a pencil in my hand. I returned home later and purchased a bottle of and used it five or six times before I went to bed, and the next day I was able to go to work and use my hand as usual."

Sloan's Liniment is an excellent antiseptic and germ killer—heals cuts, burns, wounds and contusions, and will draw the poison from sting of poisonous insects.

Handsome Gate to Be Erected at Entrance to Montrose Cemetery.

The entrance to the Montrose cemetery is to be marked with a handsome gate, the gift of Mrs. F. B. Streeter of Towanda, as a memorial to the memor of her late husband, Judge Ferris B. The gate will form an arch, having four abutments, the center being intended for a driveway, while smaller gateways on either side will be reserved for pedestrians. The plans call for a structure costing about $1,500. The Warrner Memorial chapel will eventually be built nearby, and the two attractive piles of masonry will do much to beautify the city of the dead.

BEAR CASE PUZZLE IN COURT.

Hunters' Rights Involved in Rival Claims to Fine Hide.

A novel point in the property rights of hunters is to come up for judicial settlement at Williamsport. Fred Fields and August Beck had a bear trap along Hoagland's Run. Thursday morning they found the paw of a bear in it. But instead of having been gnawed off, as imprisoned bears will do, this one showed evidence of having been cut off with a knife. In Charles Eldon's taxidermy shop in Williamsport, they found a bear's pelt, with one paw missing, the pelt having been received by the taxidermist from an out of town hunter on Saturday.

The detached paw's ragged edge fit exactly the ragged edge of the pelt's missing paw. Now the question to be threshed out is who had prior right to the bear—the men who owned the trap or the man who killed it and took it from the trap? The disputed skin is an unusually fine one.

Postal Banks Must Wait.

A news dispatch from Washington says: "Postmaster General Hitchcock has decided to postpone the recommendation for postal savings banks until the first session of the Sixty-second Congress. His determination is based on the theory that by that time the financial laws of the United States will have been so revised that it will be possible to incorporate the postal savings bank as an intergral part of the national financial system. Another factor is the imperative need of economy in the postal service of the country. The postal deficit for some years has ranged between $9,000,000 and $15,000,000 a year."

SUPREME COURT AFFIRMS JUDGE FANNING IN HART CASE.

Sayre Man Loses Claim Against Lehigh Valley Railroad.

The Supreme court sitting at Philadelphia, in an opinion written by Justice Henderson, has affirmed Judge Fanning of the Bradford county courts in the case of Hart vs. the Lehigh Valley Railroad company. Hart loses his claim against the company by the affirmation.

This case comes from Sayre. During the construction of the new shops at Sayre, Mr. Hart furnished one of the contractors a large amount of material, for which he never received his pay, the contractor not being good for the claim.

Then Mr. Hart brought suit against the Lehigh, the action being a mechanic's lien. When the case was tried in the Bradford county courts, the late Henry Streeter representing the defendant railroad company, moved the court to strike off the lien against the company on the grounds that the plaintiff had not clearly set forth his grounds for the claim, and that the railroad company was not holding for the debts of the contractor.

Judge Fanning granted the motion, and the lien was stricken off. The case was appealed to the Supreme court and that tribunal has affirmed the action of Judge Fanning.

COST OF AN EDUCATION

Public Schools of the Country Spend an Average of $28.25 a Pupil.

The average yearly expenditure a pupil in the public schools of this country is given as $28,25 in the recently published report of the Commissioner of Education. In 1870 it was only $15.55.

Nevada has the highest yearly expenditure, $72.15 a pupil, followed by New York with $51.50; Montana, with $49.40, and California, with $49.29. In the South the expenditures of a pupil range from $6.37 for South Carolina to $20.36 for West Virgina. The new State of Oklahoma spends $15.79. New Mexico, $19.46; while Arizona, with $40.41 spends $5.16 a pupil a year more than Oklahoma and New Mexico combined.

One-third of the States spend from $25 to $40 a pupil. The fact that one-fourth spend less than $15 and one-fourth spend more than $35 is an indication, says the Commissioner, "of the great variety in support of public education, and, I believe, in the opportunity afforded for school training in our various Commonwealths.—New York Sun.

NEW INTERPRETATION OF LICENSE LAW.

Something About the Opinion Written by Supreme Court Justice Elkin.

The brewing license decision rendered by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania the other day in an opinion written by Justice J. P. Elkin, has all the aspects of a new precedent. It is contrary to the letter and the spirit of the Court's rulings for nearly twenty years past, and no matter whether or not it shall actually result in serious impairment of the discretion of the Quarter Sessions Courts in dealing with license applications its tendency is that way unquestionably says the Pittsburg Press.

The substance of decisions ever since the Brooks law became operative in 1891 has been that if the applicant for a liquor license did not seem to the Quarter Sessions Court to be a fit person, or if the license in the judgment of the same tribunal was not necessary, the Court might refuse the application, and its decision was conclusive. The opinion rendered means in effect that the lower Court from now on must give reasons for refusals and give reasons, moreover, which seem good to the higher Court.

The layman is, of course, treading on egg shells when he criticises the decrees of Court, whose expositions of the law must be accepted as authoritative. But in the present case there are three unusually emphatic opinions of dissent, the decision to curtail the discretion of the Quarter Sessions Judges having been reached by a majority of only one in seven. The language of Justice Mestrezat, in particular, will command widespread attention. After pointing out that the act confers absolute discretion in the Quarter Sessions Judges, and that this discretion has been repeatedly upheld by the Supreme Court as a proper and valid legislative enactment, Justice Mestrezat says:

"I regard the ruling of the majority of the Court as entire departure from all the adjudicated decisions of both Appellate Courts of this Commonwealth. It practically annuls the act of Assembly and denies the right to grant license by the Court of Quarter Sessions, the only tribunal invested by the laws of the Commonwealth with that power. It assumes the authority to review on a certiorari the merits of a procedure in a Court of first instance, which has never heretofore been attempted in this Commonwealth. I object to granting this license because the members of this Court have no authority to usurp the functions of the Quarter Sessions and determine the fitness of the applicant from their own knowledge of the fact from facts otherwise obtained."

Justice Potter and Stewart agree with Justice Mestrezat in this exceptionally vigorous protest, and as indicating how serious the difference of opinion is the fact may be cited that the Superior Court also joins the dissenters in declaring that there is no warrant in the Constitution or the statutes for the Supreme Court's present judgment.

Desires to Organize a Camp of the United Sportsmen Here.

The following letter from W. E. Meehan, Commissioner of Fisheries of Pennsylvania, is self explanatory:

Harrisburg, Nov. 4, 1909

Lilley & Wilson, Towanda, Pa.

Gentlemen:—I will arrive in Towanda on Thursday evening, November 11, at 6:45 p. m., from Sayre, where I will be on Wednesday evening to deliver an address to the Game and Fish Protective Association of that place. I am very anxious to organize a camp of the United Sportsmen at Towanda and I would be very glad therefore if you would circulate it among the sportsmen of my coming and try and have a meeting somewhere either in your office or some other convenient place where I can talk to them and point out the necessity of an organization for fish protection.

Sincerely.

Commissioner of Fisheries.

ANTITOXIN AIDS THOUSANDS.

State's Free Treatment Successful in 14,080 Cases.

Fifteen thousand, four hundred and twenty-nine persons, nearly all children, suffering with diphtheria, were treated with the State's free antitoxin between October, 1905, and January, 1909. Of this number 14,080 recovered, giving the remarkably low death rate of 8.74 per cent. In the same period 10,258 persons, nearly all children, who had been exposed to diphtheria, were immunized with State antitoxin. All but 163 of these were fully protected, and of those who did contract the disease only 13 fatal cases resulted.

The State Department of Health now has 650 distributing stations, where at all times physicians can secure antitoxin free for indigent diphtheria cases.

Hope They Do.

Some of the dairymen about the county have received communications from the city saying that if they wish to sell milk in that market they must provide light, clean and airy apartments for the cows, the cattle must be curried every day, their udders cleanly washed before milking, the milkmen must wear white suits, and a number of other requirements must be obeyed. The farmers declare that they will quit selling milk and go to butter making rather than to be to all the expense entailed in such a proceeding. It is to be hoped they do, for it will mean more butter at a lower price for the consumer, and a severe jolt to oleo.

Property Owner is Liable.

The Supreme Court has decided that where a property owner has been notified to repair the pavement or sidewalk along his property or has actual notice or knowledge of their condition and he neglects or refuses to repair the same, such owner is liable for all damages that may result by reason of the defective and unsafe pavements. Furthermore, Judge O'Connor, of Cambria county, has ruled that any public officer whose duty is to see that a highway is kept in good order, that if such officer neglects his duty that he is responsible for damages.

Will Sue the Distributors.

Secretary of Agriculture N. B. Critchfield has issued notice that hereafter Pennsylvania in prosecuting for sale of fertilizer and cattle foods not in accord with the law will bring suit against manufacturers or distributors, instead of distributing merchants only, as has been the custom. This will mean a big change as for years manufacturers have rarely been prosecuted, the burden falling on merchants.
